Forecast for Wednesday 06 Oct 2021

Weather: A mainly dry day, with good spells of sunshine in the morning and early afternoon before high cloud thickens up. Then rain will spread to Mull and Jura around late afternoon or early evening spreading quickly inland during the evening and becoming persistent and heavy at times. Cloud gradually lowering to bring hill fog.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 90% during the day, falling 20% or less in the evening.

Visibility: Good for most of day, but moderate or poor in the evening as the rain sets in. Cloud then lowering to 300-500m.
